

The Gary Shaneck Memorial Golf Outing is held in memory of Gary Shaneck and his dedication to promoting the game of golf.

Gary had a vision and saw the potential of Spuyten Duyval Golf Course when he purchased it in 1974. It was this vision that led him to continually re-design and upgrade Spuyten Duyval. His vision also included designing and building the first heated driving range in Northwest Ohio, the executive course at Cottonwood Creek and his masterpiece—the South Course at Spuyten Duyval.

Gary was never happier than all the times he spent on his “dozer” to see all his visions come to fruition. Even though he suffered a nearly fatal accident while building the South course in 2002, he went on to finish the construction and was the heart and soul of the entire golf complex. He continued to be at the helm until his death in May 2014. His wife, Sue, and daughter, Sarai, are operating the courses, always keeping his visions in mind.

Gary is remembered for his fair-mindedness, devotion to the game of golf and for the many, many moments that were shared by so many at Spuyten Duyval. The words, “If these walls could talk”, are frequently heard and remind us of all the memorable times he was a part of.
